

A2X gives Etsy sellers confidence in their financials, knowing their numbers add up. A2X posts all Etsy sales and fees directly into Xero, QuickBooks or Sage in tidy summaries that match the Etsy deposits to the bank account.

Customer pain points that A2X solves

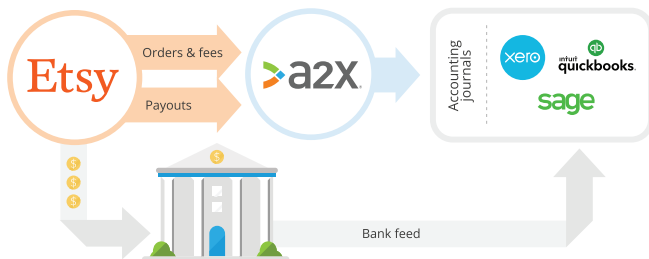

It's not easy to accurately account for Etsy sales and fees. Merchants are dealing with:

- Different currencies and taxes.
- Accounting for different fee types.
- Settlements that span month-end.
- Inaccurate margin calculations due to Cost of Goods Sold (COGS) timing differences.
- High transaction volumes that can swamp Xero, QuickBooks or Sage.

This can make reconciling Etsy sales and fees a nightmare. A2X automates this process and makes accounting for Etsy a breeze.

How A2X works

1. Connect A2X to your Etsy seller account and to Xero, QuickBooks or Sage in minutes.
2. A2X loads your Etsy transactions, then maps them against your chart of accounts, and allocates them to the correct financial periods.
3. A2X then posts tidy, summarized journals into Xero, QuickBooks or Sage that always match the batched net cash received from Etsy.

Additional Features

- A2X matches COGS to your Etsy sales to make it easy to track gross margin.
- Automatically imports accurate Etsy deposit data and allows this to be posted to your accounting system in tidy summaries.
- Scales to support thousands of daily orders without sending thousands of individual invoices to the accounting system.
- A2X supports all Etsy sites worldwide
- A2X also supports Amazon, Shopify, eBay and Walmart, you can connect all of your marketplaces to a single accounting system for multi-channel sellers.
- Supports multi-currency sellers and multiple tax rates.
